

Illinois Governor Mobilizes Troops As Mine War Rages

Death Toll in Disaster at Herrin
Wednesday Night May Pass
the Forty Mark

5,000 in Attack

Imported Workers Become Victims of Strikers, Several of Them
Being Lynched

(By the Associated Press)
Waukegan, Ill., June 22.—Governor Small tonight ordered 1,000 state troops mobilized at once, and held under arms to be sent to Herrin if needed.

The governor directed that the troops should be given full field equipment. He told General Black that he was reliably advised that life and property are in jeopardy in the vicinity of Herrin, Williamson county.

Herrin, Ill., June 22.—The death toll in the disaster last night and today, when 5,000 striking union miners attacked the Lester strip mine being operated under guard by imported workers, may run past the 40 mark, it was said tonight by those in touch with the situation, although the final tally is positively known to be dead.

A check-up at midnight tonight of casualties in the miners' riot showed the following:
Dead—In Herrin morgue, 17; in Marion morgue, 1; in private homes here, 3.

Six other bodies seen by The Associated Press representative are believed to be still in the woods.

No Request for Troops.
Sheriff Melvin Thaxter tonight told The Associated Press that he did not ask for troops to quell the rioting here because he did not see any need of them.

Colonel Samuel Hunter, of the adjutant general's office, stated he did not ask for the militia, as he was here on his own initiative and was without authority to ask for state aid unless requested to make such a request by county officials.

Colonel Hunter declared that at one of the conferences he called in an effort to prevent the outbreak, W. J. Lasker, owner of the strip mine where the outbreaks occurred, when asked if he would close the mine, replied: "I'll be damned if I will."

Mr. Lasker was reported to be in Herrin tonight but could not be located for a statement.

Eyewitnesses Tell Stories.
Half a dozen wounded men, some of them lying on death beds, tonight gave an Associated Press correspondent the first actual eyewitness accounts of the mine fight last night and this morning which brought dozens of casualties when 5,000 armed striking miners attacked the Lester strip mine here which was being operated by imported workers and guards.

The trouble began yesterday following publication of a telegram from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, saying that the employees of the Southern Illinois Coal company, members of the steam shovel men's union, were "common strike breakers."

Publication of Lewis' telegram was followed by the collection of large numbers of union miners and sympathizers just outside of Herrin. As the day wore on, the crowd increased and late in the afternoon the attack on the strip mine was made after three hardware stores had been ransacked and stripped of all arms and ammunition.

One miner told the Associated Press correspondent that he had seen fifteen bodies thrown into a pond with rocks around their necks. About 20 imported workers are missing.

Checking the death list has proved almost impossible. The victims, all but three of them imported workers, so far as known, were found scattered over an area within several miles of the mine. Some were lynched, some were burned when the mine was fired, others were beaten to death, and the majority fell before the scores of bullets poured into them.

Further Trouble Expected.
"Bloody Williamson" county, so-called because of several riotous incidents, was outwardly calm, but there was a noticeable undercurrent which kept everybody on edge and wondering if further trouble might not be expected.

The substance of the statements made by the wounded, who were among the heaviest, was that not a single worker was injured during the fighting, but that the numerous killed were shot down in cold blood after they had surrendered themselves and their arms. There was nothing from the union miners to contradict these claims.

Several of the men imported to work the mine absolved the strikers from blame, saying that the ones responsible were "those who sent us here under false promises that there would be no trouble."

Joseph O'Rourke of Chicago, commissary clerk at the mine, gave the most vivid account of the fight. His story was related as he tossed in pain from half a dozen bullet holes through his body.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DISCLOSES PLOT

Three Justices of Massachusetts
Supreme Court Would Have Been Indicted Under Scheme

Cambridge, Mass., June 22.—An alleged plot whereby three justices of the Massachusetts supreme court would have been indicted, thus incapacitating the court in its recent hearings of the cases of those who were charged with corruption, was disclosed by Attorney General J. Weston Allen in an address at the Harvard university alumni exercises today.

"The plan in part failed or was abandoned," said Mr. Allen, "but it was a sinister attempt to undermine the faith of the people in the integrity of the courts, a veiled attempt upon the government itself. Failed in its purpose to prevent a trial, overwhelming by the evidence produced against them of corruption and extortion, silent before their accusers, the men have weakly endeavored to claim bias on the part of the court. Stripped of their office, they are bereft of their power and influence, which was built upon patronage and rest upon fear."

Joseph C. Follett and Nathan A. Tufts have been removed from the district attorney's office of Suffolk and Middlesex counties respectively in the past year as the result of charges brought by Mr. Allen. An indictment was pending against Supreme Court Justice Edward P. Pierce. The Pierce indictment and those sought against certain other judges, Mr. Allen asserted, were not directed against them as individuals but were part of the plan to hinder the proceedings of the court.

SENATE GOLFERS ACCEPT NEWSPAPERMEN'S CHALLENGE

Washington, June 22.—A golf match challenge from newspaper men of the senate press gallery has been accepted by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, on behalf of 11 other senators whose skill at the game will give them a chance to even scores with the men who write and edit their speeches. The clash will occur at an early date.

"I am authorized to say," Senator Hitchcock wrote in accepting the challenge, "that we can muster 12 alleged statesmen who would be glad to gamble on the greens with a like number of dedicated newspaper men."

(By the Associated Press)

24-HOUR RAIN CAUSES NEW FLOOD IN ONEIDA VICINITY

Oneida, June 22.—Twenty-four hours of rain have caused a receding of the June 11 flood here, and the eastern section of the city is under water, with the crest apparently not reached. Boats, motor trucks and patrols are preparing for relief work.

The entire Stockbridge, Schoonda and Cowasselon valleys are under three to five feet of water. The New York, Ontario & Western railway tracks were partially submerged early tonight, and while trains are running service tomorrow is doubtful. Much damage has been done in the Canastota onion field section.

ANXIOUS TO EMPLOY CAPITAL IN RUSSIA

Many Business Men Await Results of Conference at The Hague,
But Outlook Is Not Hopeful

(By the Associated Press.)
The Hague, June 22.—Colonel H. W. Boyle, representing the Royal Dutch Shell oil interests; Leslie Urquhart, of the Russian Asiatic Consolidated, Ltd., and many other business men representing companies interested in Russia, are here awaiting results from the Russian conference, hoping that they may make an opening for the employment of capital in Russia.

Colonel Boyle said today that the Shell interests had closed no agreement with the Soviet government and did not contemplate any agreement which would be detrimental to the interests of former owners, whose property had been confiscated by the Soviet.

The sub-commissions on debts and credits met this afternoon and, like the sub-commission on private property, decided to submit no definite program but to leave the initiative with the Russians when they arrive.

Among some of the delegates tonight, the opinion prevailed that on account of the political situation in Moscow, the outlook for the success of The Hague negotiations was less than hopeful. However, it was solved not to be influenced by adverse reports from Russia, but to keep an open mind.

END OF CLOTHING WORKERS' STRIKE IN GOTHAM IS NEAR

New York, June 22.—An early end of the general walk-out in the New York men's clothing industry was predicted by both union and contractors' officials tonight following conferences during the day. These officials said an agreement had been reached whereby the contractors would approve all settlements made by the union with manufacturers.

The agreement, as yet unwritten, calls for strict enforcement in all shops of the rules requiring manufacturers to register their contractors, it was said. The effect of this, it was explained, will be to abolish the so-called "social" contracting shops or to compel them to join their respective associations. These shops usually employ a small number of hands, nearly all of whom are financially interested in the business. For this reason they have a greater output and charge lower prices than the union shops.

VAN DUYNE, PROMINENT TROY, PA., MAN, DEAD

Troy, Pa., June 22.—Everett E. VanDuyne, president of the Grange National bank of this place for years and associate of the late Henry P. Bixler, died at his home here yesterday. ## EXCHANGING VICTORY NOTES

Washington, June 22.—Preliminary reports to the treasury indicate that the total exchanges for the new 4-3-8 per cent. notes for 4 1/2 per cent. victory notes aggregate about $325,000,000. It was announced tonight by Secretary Mellon. The new treasury notes were offered in exchange for the victory notes as part of the program for funding the short-dated debt. On May 21, victory notes outstanding aggregated $2,317,000,000, being reduced by $225,000,000 through the new exchange, leaves less than $2,000,000,000 as compared with the original amount of $4,495,000,000.

NOTED ENGLISH FIELD MARSHAL ASSASSINATED

Sir Henry H. Wilson Shot to Death on Doorstep of London
Residence

TWO YOUTHS CAUGHT

Sinn Feiners Popularly Blamed for Murder, as Victim Held
Post in Belfast

(By the Associated Press)

London, June 22.—Field Marshal Sir Henry H. Wilson, one of England's most illustrious soldiers, who was chief of the imperial staff during the final stages of the World war, was assassinated on the doorstep of his residence in Eaton place this afternoon by two young men who gave the names of James O'Brien and James Connolly.

The assassins had loitered about, waiting an hour for his return from unveiling a memorial to men of the Great Eastern railway who fell in the war. When he alighted from his motor car, Field Marshal Wilson walked up the steps and the men fired several shots at him from close range, three of which took effect, one in the chest, one in the leg and the third in the wrist.

The field marshal died before he could enter his house. His horrified wife heard the shooting and rushed out to find her husband's body, dressed in full uniform, lying in a pool of blood, with the sword which he had drawn to meet his assailants by his side.

This crime was immediately and inevitably linked in the public mind with the political assassination of Lord Frederic Cavendish, chief secretary for Ireland, and Thomas H. Burke, the undersecretary, in Phoenix park, Dublin, in 1882. The first impression was in a measure confirmed when Scotland Yard made public the names of the murderers and declared that Connolly had a letter in his possession indicating he was a member of the Irish Republican army.

General Duffy, chief of staff of the Irish Republican army in Dublin, immediately denied that that organization had any part in the crime.

AMERICANS HEAR SHOTS

The assassins fled several hundred yards before their capture. With police and civilians pursuing afoot and in motors. They passed the residence of the American ambassador, Colonel George Harvey, where ex-President Taft was a guest. The chief justice of the United States and the ambassador heard the firing and at first thought the shots were aimed at the house. They rushed to the window in time to see the two men fleeing, with the crowd in pursuit, occasionally turning to fire a shot from their weapons, which later proved to be service revolvers.

In the course of the running fight, two of the policemen and a chauffeur were wounded. The men were finally overpowered after a hard struggle.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson was formerly chief of the imperial general staff of the British army. He retired from his post early in the present year and stood for the imperial Parliament as Unionist candidate for North Down, Ireland. He was elected member for this Ulster district Feb. 21, and soon afterward was appointed by Premier Craig as Ulster's prime agent for the restoration of order.

The field marshal went to Belfast from England early in March with plans for restoring order, which he submitted to the premier. While the choice of Field Marshal Wilson as organizer of pacification measures was favorably received in Ulster, it had a contrary reception in Southern Ireland. The former British chief of staff was regarded there with more or less the same feeling as Sir Edward Carson, the former Ulster leader, and predictions were freely voiced in the south that he would be strongly in sympathy with the Orange side of the feud between the two factions.

Career in World War

Field Marshal Wilson's career in the great war was one of high distinction. He went out with the expeditionary force under Lord French in 1914 and was the backbone of the British staff during the long retreat from Mons. In 1916 he was sent on a mission to Russia, returning to France as special senior liaison officer at French general headquarters and later was appointed to the eastern command at home.

In 1917, however, his most important work began. In December of that year he was appointed British member on the military committee of the allied war council for the western front. He thus became one of the best known figures in inter-allied army circles, for while General Sir Douglas Haig was the British commander in the field, General Wilson was the British voice which spoke in the council at Versailles, which carried out the joint operations of the allies.

At Versailles General Wilson was associated with General Foch up to the time Foch took command of the joint forces in the field. He also went to Italy after the Italian debacle at Caporetto and shaped the plans for holding back the Austro-German onrush into Italy.

Later General Cadorna became his associate at Versailles as the Italian representative of the joint military council. General Tasker H. Bliss became the American representative of

of a Walk-Out

CHAIRMEN GATHER

Will Canvass Votes Next Sunday
Machinists' Chief Attacks
the Labor Board

(By the Associated Press.)
Chicago, June 22.—After a full in the flow of strike ballots into the headquarters of the railway shop unions for two days, every mail today brought stacks of the colored slips and tonight union officials predicted that a canvass of the vote could be taken by Sunday and that it would stand 98 per cent, in favor of a walkout.

The general chairman reached Chicago today preparatory to the general chairman's committee meeting on Saturday, and immediately began the work of tabulating the strike votes. Thirty contract cases, scheduled for hearing before the Railroad Labor board June 26 cannot have any effect on the strike question over the contracting of shop work to outside firms, according to John Scott, secretary of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor. The hearings are on charges that the roads have contracted shop work to avoid labor board decisions as to wages and working conditions.

WILL SEEK TO LEARN IF LUSITANIA HAD MUNITIONS

New York, June 22.—If war munitions are found aboard the Lusitania, the sinking of which, with its non-combatant passengers was justified by the Germans on the ground that the ship was carrying contraband, that fact would be given to the world, said a statement issued today by J. W. Karbe, representative of the Leavitt Lusitania Salvage company, whose expedition will sail for the Irish coast soon.

The statement was evoked by a demand of the National People's party in the German Reichstag that Germany send observers to check up on the salvaging operations. The demand presented in the Reichstag Tuesday declared that the German government had reliable information that the Lusitania carried two submarines as well as munitions and torpedoes.

$75,000 STORM RAGES IN SOUTH CAYUGA COUNTY

Auburn, June 22.—Damage approximating $75,000 was caused by heavy rain and landslides in south Cayuga county yesterday afternoon and last night.

Tons of earth in landslides and the washing out of numerous bridges crippled service on both branches of the Lehigh Valley to the south of Auburn. One train on the Ithaca branch was marooned all night.

Cottages and hotels at the south end of Owassco lake were flooded with water to a depth of several feet, a big dam in Genoa village went out, a score of bridges on state and county highways were destroyed and crops in some towns practically ruined. Today the level of all the Finger lakes is rising rapidly.

Labor Defense Council Will Be Established

(By the Associated Press.)
Cincinnati, June 22.—With the avowed purpose of meeting all legal attacks aimed at labor unions, the American Federation of Labor today added to its program for curbing the power exercised by the courts by directing the establishment at Washington of a labor defense council, composed of lawyers selected by the federation's officers. The council primarily will defend the unions against suits that may be filed under recent supreme court decisions adverse to labor.

The program of four constitutional amendments, repeal of the Sherman anti-trust law, and the enactment of two new measures, which was adopted by the convention by almost a unanimous vote, will require years of campaigning before adoption, speakers said in urging the creation of the defense council. The amendments include a congressional veto to supreme court decisions, the guarantee to labor of the right to organize, the prohibition of child labor, and adoption of an easier method than the present for amending the constitution. Enactment of a new federal child labor law and also a law interpreting the labor sections of the Clayton act were included as a part of the program.

N. Y. TELEPHONE COMPANY WILL ISSUE MORE STOCK

Albany, June 22.—The New York Telephone company was today authorized by the Public Service commission to issue $25,000,000 par value of its 6 1/2 per cent. cumulative preferred capital stock to be sold at not less than par. Accompanied by William Green, secretary of the mine workers, Mr. Lewis quietly slipped into Cleveland early today and went into conference with Mr. Carter, eluding all newspaper men before and after the meeting. It is known that the mine workers recently made an appeal for financial assistance to the various railway organizations which signed the triple alliance in Chicago last February, and it is thought this was the object of the trip.

YALE AND HARVARD CREWS CLASH TODAY

Fifty-Fifth Inter-Varsity Regatta Championship; Atlantic Will Praise Victor Tonight

New London, Conn., June 22.—Tradition that has come down through the years will slip into the old Thames tomorrow alongside the crews of Yale and Harvard, the bitterest of gentle foes, as they lift their shells into the stream whose rippling will hark to the Atlantic tomorrow night the prize of the victor in the fifty-fifth inter-arsity regatta championship of the eight-oared crews.

As compelling and majestic as their yearly football game is the annual regatta of Yale and Harvard, made so by the full hearts that strain with as much verve ashore as under the tanned breasts at the oars. As exhilarating as the roaring and the shrieking yells that the frosty winds of autumn whisk across the wharves and the clang of bells on the variety of craft that is jumbled together somehow tonight along the lanes the crews will traverse on the morrow.

In place of the battered quarter-backs barking cryptic signals behind the living hedge formed by the line-men, will be miniature men seated in the sterns of the feather-like shells, pleading to eight sun-browned, sinewy forms, sliding to and fro while their long sweeps dip into the water, respond to the tug and the shell shoots forward another rod. Tradition says that the only answer to the coxswain's plea is a tighter clenching of the jaws of the oarsmen—and sometimes a little more speed.

Tonight New London, as grim usually as any New England habitat of small-folk, is gay with the foreboding of regatta throngs that will pour in all day in automobiles on trains, trolleys and pleasure craft, made welcome by the natives of the old seaport, who apparently take as much joy in listening to the rumble as the visitors take in making it. The crews, segregated from their admirers, are priming their nerves for the test that comes only to the few.

The Yale-Harvard regatta has been an annual affair—with periodic interruptions—since 1852, and so determinedly have the crews of both institutions fought in it that both have won 27 varsity races, alternately the last four times, following the period of supremacy that the Crimson enjoyed in the early years of this century. Yale won last year and Harvard the year before.

The result cannot be forecast by resorting to the performance of either varsity crew this year, and pronosticating is made doubly difficult by the change in rowing methods that Yale sensationally made a month ago, deposing the head coach, Jim Cordey, teacher of the English style, and replacing him with his brother, George Cordey, mentor of the American style, who was the tutor of the freshmen crew.

Both Yale and Harvard have been defeated this year by the University of Pennsylvania and Princeton in either dual or triangular regattas. Tonight the critics are pointing to the victory of Princeton over Harvard in the race won by the Navy May 6, in which the Crimson came in eight lengths behind the winner and two lengths aft the stern of the Tiger. Princeton also finished second in a three-cornered race May 20 at Derby, in which Yale was third—the regatta was won by Cornell. These races, however, were two miles or less in distance.

Tomorrow's program, subject to the weather, consists of two morning races and the main event in the afternoon. The freshmen crews will slip away from Bartlett's Cove to the Navy Yard at 10 a. m., followed within a half hour by the Junior Varsity. At 5:30 p. m., the four-mile "varsity" contest will be rowed up-stream this year, will start at the railroad bridge and end at Bartlett's Cove.

CORNELL AND NAVY CREWS ARE IN FORM

Have Impressive Workouts on the Hudson Yesterday; Strenuous Drills Face Syracuse

Poughkeepsie, June 22. — Cornell and the Navy had impressive workouts on the Hudson this afternoon. The Annapolis oarsmen went over the course at a rapid pace, to all appearances as perfect as when they won championship honors here last June. With Coach Hoyle silent and only the coxswains to criticize them, the Red and White eight came down the river in fine form, cleaving the water with powerful full strokes.

Indication has been given by Coach Hoyle that he is well satisfied with the present condition of his crew. This morning saw the Ithaca shells out on the river for only a 20-minute spin calculated to keep the men in condition. The afternoon practice lasted an hour, in which the finish choice of all Cornell crews was plainly evident.

The work of the Cornell oarsmen stood out in contrast to the Syracuse eights, who were out for a long drill down river early in the morning and afternoon. Jerkiness in the stroke was discernible in the Syracuse Junior varsity and the attitude of Ten Eyck would indicate more strenuous drills were ahead of the Orange rowers. Regarding Cornell, however, the prevailing opinion is that Hoyle's crews will not be worked hard henceforth.

To the Taxpayers and Voters of Oneonta

An offer has been made by the undersigned to the Honorable Mayor and Common Council to equip the city with voting machines, same to be paid for if so desired by the city in annual installments, equal to whatever the Mayor and Council estimate the machines will save in election expenses, until their purchase price is reached.

We take this means of acquainting the voters and taxpayers of the city with this proposal and of bringing to their attention a number of FACTS connected with the use of voting machines. We will not endeavor in this communication to do more than summarize these facts, which were given to the Common Council, but shall be glad to furnish detailed information to any citizen desiring it.

Voting machines have been used in New York state for more than twenty years and that use has demonstrated beyond all doubt that certain benefits always result from their use, namely:

THEY reduce the expenses of conducting elections from 30 to 50 per cent; in fact, enough to pay for their entire cost in from four to seven years.

THEY make voting much easier for the voter and prevent him or her from spoiling their ballots.

THEY stop him if he would inadvertently make a mistake and compel the voting to be absolutely secret.

THEY discourage the buying and selling of votes and prevent all mistakes and frauds in the count.

THEY show the results of the election immediately and retain a permanent record of the count.

THEY eliminate the arduous, all-night work of canvassing the ballots and put an end to recounts and contested elections.

EXTENT OF USE

Over seventy per cent of the voters of the state, outside of New York city, cast their votes on voting machines at the last general election. Many cities and towns have used the machines for over twenty years. Numbered among those cities that have adopted the modern method of voting are the following:

Binghamton	New Rochelle	Auburn	Rome
Buffalo	Jamestown	Hornell	Little Falls
Amsterdam	Salamanca	Cornell	Watervliet
Rochester	Lackawanna	Cortland	Cohoes
Niagara Falls	Tonawanda	Fulton	Rensselaer
Utica	No. Tonawanda	Oswego	Hudson
Syracuse	Lockport	Watertown	Poughkeepsie
Troy	Butavia	Port Jervis	Newburgh
Schenectady	Canandaigua	Middletown	White Plains
Yonkers	Geneva	Norwich	Glen Cove
Mount Vernon	Ithaca	Onida	Olean

CAN THE CITY OF ONEONTA AFFORD EITHER TO DEFER OR TO REJECT THE ADOPTION OF VOTING MACHINES WHEN AN OFFER IS MADE TO INSTALL THEM AND ACCEPT IN PAYMENT THEREFORE THE ANNUAL SAVING IN ELECTION EXPENSES EFFECTED THROUGH THEIR USE? This proposition is now awaiting the decision of the Common Council and they will no doubt be glad to learn the views of their constituents.

Respectfully submitted

RELIEF WORKERS WELL ORGANIZED

Band of 150 Americans Directs Feeding of Nearly Ten Million Starving Russians

New York, June 22.—How a band of 150 Americans is able to direct the feeding of nearly 10,000,000 starving Russians is depicted in advices received from Moscow by the American Relief Administration.

The organization is similar to the Army supply system. Headquarters are in Moscow, which corresponds geographically to Chicago. Ten divisions, executive, administrative, supply, traffic, liaison, communications, medical, finance, motor transport and special investigation, operate from this point, 47 Americans comprising the staff.

The entire American personnel is distributed into 24 districts, each district, save four railroad centers, being in charge of a supervisor responsible to headquarters at Moscow. These groups serve an area of nearly 4,000,000 square miles, larger than the United States.

Districts adjacent to the Volga Valley, the heart of the famine region, receive the greatest attention. From Kasaan, the spot of the government of the Tatar Republic, south to Astrakhan at the mouth of the river on the Caspian Sea, every rail head on the Volga is manned by American units. Here 60 men supervise the feeding of more than 5,000,000 people.

In the Ukraine and the Crimea, the strategic points of Kiev, Kharkov, Odessa, Ekaterinburg and Theodosia are the bases of supplies from Moscow. 27 Americans direct the child-feeding and food remittance deliveries.

Refugee kitchens and stations for food remittance are operated at Vitebsk, Minsk, and Gomel, providing for the district west of Moscow to the Polish border. Beyond the famine zone on the upper Volga, Americans are in charge of transfer warehouses at two points, and also at two intermediate points between Moscow and the Volga. Corn is shipped directly through these centers for transshipment to famine centers.

Thus every thickly-populated center of Russia is covered. Moscow and Petrograd have independent supervision of child-feeding and food remittance. In each about 35,000 children are fed.

This gigantic task is being accomplished in a land where telegrams take two or three days in transmission.

Where messages must be translated, transmitted, then re-translated to English.

—where, through misunderstandings in punctuation, messages like this are received, "cars numbered 601323709-134899 NPK have left today for Samara."

—where one is advised to take a train on Tuesday and therefore prepares to go to the station along about the following Thursday.

—where journeys of ordinary length, a thousand miles or so, are spoken of as "five or six days away." (The Twentieth Century Limited does it in 24 hours.)

—where the traveller covering 2,000 miles must cook his own food and wash his own clothes while he rides. Yet, with such handicaps, the Administration has succeeded in moving nearly 200,000 tons of corn from seaports to interior districts, in shipping daily 3,000 tons of food from Moscow; in sending out 2,500 food packages daily to the districts; and in equipping 1,400 hospitals with all the necessities of such institutions, including 500,000 sheets and an equal number of blankets.

RESPECTED HARTWICK MAN.

Oscar H. Jones, 87 Years Old, Will Be Laid to Rest Sunday.

Hartwick, June 22.—Oscar H. Jones, an aged and highly-respected citizen, died Tuesday of the infirmities of age at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jacob Scott, half a mile north of this village. For many years deprived of his hearing, Mr. Jones took a keen interest in reading and possessed a wonderful memory, being able to recall in detail happenings of the earlier years of his life. He was always a welcome visitor in anyone's home.

Mr. Jones, who was born on July 11, 1835, was the last survivor of a family of eleven children. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Jacob V. Scott of Hartwick and Mrs. John L. Calkins of Fulton, and four grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Sunday morning about 7:30 one of the season's most devastating wind storms passed over this community, doing great damage in one streak over the hill. Probably the greatest damage was done on the James Teller farm, where it took the roofs off nearly all buildings but the house, laid the silo flat, tore up all the trees of the orchard besides other trees and limbs were blown into the crops and grass. One large tree near the house blew against the house, doing slight damage to the porch and windows. Mr. Teller suffered at least $500 loss.

A SHOWER WORTH HAVING.

Delhi, June 22.—A very unique and yet what proved to be one of the most delightful and interesting showers ever given in the village of Delhi was tendered to Miss Margaret Jane Wilson Tuesday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Wilson, on Cross street.

The guests, who numbered fifty, all friends of Miss Wilson, were invited to a steamer shower and to be on hand promptly at 8 o'clock. The lights were put out and at 8:15 the guest of honor arrived supposedly to spend a short time but upon looking in at the door was overwhelmed by the crowd. After Miss Wilson had gained her composure she was set at work following a white ribbon which was wound around chairs, tables, doors, etc., and at intervals a beautiful gift suitable for traveling was tied. Following the unwrapping of the gifts which numbered many handsome personal articles, silk umbrellas, traveling bag and gifts of money amounting to over $35, Miss Wilson, in her always delightful manner, thanked those present for their thoughtfulness.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

If Babe Ruth has really decided to forego his recent custom of scrapping with umpires, players and heads of associations, everybody will be pleased. It would be a genuine misfortune should a fine player get final suspension from organized baseball; and it cannot be denied that since last fall he has been heading perilously for the toboggan.

The defeat of the British government on the Palestine mandate plan by the house of lords on Wednesday is not at all likely to result in the resignation of the premier. Had it been the house of commons, it might have been a different thing; but the lords are of a different consequence in government that their vote can be disregarded.

At a meeting of the United Confederate Veterans in Richmond, Va., on Wednesday, a resolution was unanimously adopted, declaring that the Civil war was "liberally and personally conceived by Abraham Lincoln, and that he was personally responsible for forcing the war on the south." Therein, fortunately, speak only the men of '61, and not the new south of the twentieth century. A text book teaching these doctrines is recommended for use in the public schools of the erstwhile Confederate states. One may be curious to know whether the north was responsible for the bombardment and capture of Fort Sumter.

One demand of the American Federation of Labor, which is that the constitution of the United States be so amended as to fix the minimum age at which children may be employed in laborious occupations, will meet with a large degree of public approval, even from those who believe that the supreme court under the existing constitution was absolutely right in its recent decision in the North Carolina case. But there are other proposed amendments which in their tendency are distinctly revolutionary and should not be approved.

One of these is that which would deny the right of the states or the national government to make any laws which would prevent labor from collectively bargaining or the giving or withholding of labor—in other words from striking. The real objection to such a law is not that it offers certain privileges to labor, but that it is not general but would confer on one class of citizens privileges which it would deny to others. In other words, it would be class legislation.

The Otsego Association of Universalists will hold its 89th annual session at Fly Creek Tuesday, June 27th, afternoon and evening. The old historic church at Fly Creek is the oldest Universalist church that has had continuous services west of the Hudson river. The present structure, though remodeled from time to time, has stood for over one hundred years while the society itself was organized as the First Universalist Society of Otsego, one hundred and nineteen years ago. The various committees of the church are at work with plans to entertain the association and delegations are expected from Richfield Springs, Schuyler Lake, Cooperstown, Burlington, Morris and Oneonta. Supper will be served in Grange hall at six o'clock. A group of speakers of national denominational fame is touring the state and on their way eastward will attend the association at Fly Creek and be the principal speakers for the occasion. Among the group are Dr. John Van Schaick, Jr., of Washington, D. C., recent commissioner of Red Cross work in Belgium during and after the war.

The Rev. Helena Ulrich of New York city, assistant pastor of the Church of the Divine Paternity. Dr. G. Delbert Walker, New York state superintendent. All meetings are open to the public and a general invitation to attend is most heartily and cordially extended. Rev. Charles Kramer of Cooperstown is acting district superintendent and A. H. Tillson of Oneonta is vice-president.

Husband in the Reserves.
It's tough to have a husband on the police force and then be unable to see your hero in action when trouble brews at your own home. A little experience like that happened to a woman residing on Miller street at night or two since. A man came to her back door and when asked who he was replied that she would find out presently. She said that she would go for her keys but instead telephoned for the police. Two officers, not including her husband, answered the call only to find that the man was the woman's brother who had just come from his home in Pennsylvania for a visit and was trying to surprise his sister. Hubby was performing the prosaic task of trying doors during the excitement.

Perhaps a Chance for China.
It is supposed that Chen, who defeated the adherents of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, is acting in the interest of Wu Tei Fu, the victor over General Chang in the north. If this is true, Wu Tei Fu, who six months ago was little known outside of China, is well on his way to control over the eastern half of the country, containing a larger number of human beings than any other nation.—New York World.

CURRENT HOUR DISCUSSIONS

Better Than We Know.

Of the nice things said about us by visiting foreigners, there is no end. Occasionally, it is true, some blunt person like George Bernard Shaw or Margot Asquith speaks sharply concerning us, yet that is to be expected. But when an English professor, who has, so far as known, no intention of touring here, remarks that America's greatest modern achievement is its architecture, he surprises as well as pleases us.—[Buffalo News.]

Chief Justice Taft in London.

The visit of Chief Justice Taft to London, with a view to observing the methods of English justice, is a history-making occasion which is likely to be a pleasant one for the distinguished traveler, and which may very easily prove profitable to the American people. It is hardly necessary to say that Justice Taft is already fairly familiar with English legal forms and it might be more accurate to say that he proposes to ascertain how we may expedite trials in this country by cutting out useless formalities and red tape.—[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

The Vermont Spirit.

Wherever Vermonters foregather in celebration, the story of the brave resistance of Ethan Allen and his mountaineers to the aggression of the courts of Albany is retold, along with the history of that 14 years which Vermont maintained its independence before its admission to the union in 1791. It has seldom been better told, and never in so brief a space for the enlightenment of outsiders, as by Dorothy Canfield Fisher in the current number of the Nation.—[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Need of More Federal Judges.

Strong pressure is now being brought to bear upon congress to speed up the bill providing for the appointment of additional federal judges. For reasons which are not clear, this measure is making very slow progress in the national legislature, although the need of more judges is so clear that none disputes it.

The belief prevails that some congressmen are blocking action because there are features of the bill that they do not favor. These differences should be compromised in the interest of the country's needs.

It has been made plain that there is congestion of the trial lists in federal courts, and that all of the sitting judges are greatly overworked. The passage of the prohibition amendment has largely increased the number of federal cases, so that it is imperative that congress act quickly to provide the needed relief.—[Scranton Republican.]

Purging School Histories.

One David Hirschfeld was so noisy in connection with the criticism of the history textbooks that many were prejudiced against the investigation ordered by the New York city Board of Education, but reading of the hundreds of passages cited, all pointing in one direction, practically compels the conclusion that there is gross misrepresentation of the Revolutionary period. When school texts, to speak of but one item, bewail the fate of Andre and are silent about Nathan Hale, it is reasonable to impute bias. America is sufficiently grown up not to want myths. It is satisfied, for the young as well as the old, to stick to truth and the established records. But it sees no reason for revising the judgment reached by Chatham and Burke in their day, and repeatedly reaffirmed by Balfour in our day, that the Americans in 1776 had a good cause and manfully upheld it, and in so doing served the world as well as themselves.—[New York Tribune.]

A Tip to Diogenes.

A well-known resident of Oneonta borrowed an umbrella at The Star office during one of the heavy showers of Wednesday. Yesterday morning, and while the rain was falling steadily at that—he returned the umbrella! Information as to name and address can be had by Diogenes on application.

STATE SEALERS ELECT

Annual Convention of State Association of Sealers of Weights and Measures Ends Session.—Hon. J. C. Smith Addresses Delegates.—Banquet in Evening.

(Special to The Star.)

Cooperstown, June 22.—Rochester was selected as the 1923 convention city at the annual meeting of the New York State Association of Sealers of Weights and Measures here today and the following officers were elected: Charles H. Baker, Theresa, Roy E. Suter, Niagara Falls; Clayton Blood, Albion; E. L. Johnson, Worcester, vice-presidents; Frank E. Martell, Watertown, secretary; Howard J. Moore, Canandaigua, treasurer. Dr. Fritz Reichmann of Louisville, Ky., was elected honorary president for life and Dr. Eugene H. Porter of New York and William T. White of Albany were appointed on the advisory board. On the important contract committee were placed W. A. Payne of Rochester, retiring president, Harry W. Sherman of Rochester and H. J. Moore of Canandaigua.

The convention closed this evening with a banquet at the New Fenimore hotel at which 100 covers were laid. The principal speaker was Dr. Eugene H. Porter of New York, one of the state commissioners of farms and markets. Dr. Porter discussed the importance of the inspection of weights and measures and of the good work which had been done along that line. He also spoke concerning the necessity of adequate laws on the subject. George H. Carley spoke in behalf of the Cooperstown Chamber of Commerce. The third speaker was Dr. Fritz Reichmann of Louisville, Ky., formerly New York Superintendent of Weights and Measures. The addresses were all highly enjoyed. Community singing enlivened the gathering.

At the morning sessions interesting talks were given by Dr. Reichmann, Dr. Porter, Hon. Julian C. Smith of Oneonta, Messrs. Holbrook and Smith of the National Bureau of Standards at Washington and several of the state delegates. Assemblyman Smith touched upon the laws governing weights and measures and told of the difficulties encountered in passing suitable acts. His address was much appreciated.

In the afternoon there were addresses by ex-Senator Adon P. Brown of Otsego county, Commissioner J. J. Howell of the Bureau of Weights and Measures of New York city and H. A. Stillman of the United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates at Washington.

The social features of the day included a boat trip around Otsego lake and an automobile ride about the village for the ladies, including inspection of the Bassett Memorial hospital and of the model home conducted by Today's Housewife.

D. &amp; H. VETERAN SUICIDES

Dependent Because of Ill Health, Charles E. Norton Ends Life by Shooting in Car Shop Yesterday Morning—Was Man Well Liked and Much Respected.

Dependent because of continued poor health, Charles E. Norton of 22 Cherry street, the oldest car inspector in point of service in the local D. & H. yards, committed suicide at about 8 a. m. yesterday in the steel car shop by shooting himself through the right temple with a 32-calibre revolver. Death was practically instantaneous.

Norton had been in poor health for about a year and it is presumed that brooding over his condition caused a state of melancholy which led to the fatal act. Fellow employees had noticed that he had acted in a nervous manner during the past few days and was unusually nervous when he came to work at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

At about 8 o'clock Nicholas Cipriano, an employee in the shop, heard a shot ring out and investigating found Norton in a half reclining position against a pile of timbers in a dark corner of the shop. A 32-calibre revolver clutched in his right hand and a bullet hole in the right temple were mute testimony of what had happened. The shop foreman, R. J. Comstock, summoned Dr. F. H. Marx but his skill was not needed as the man must have died practically instantaneously. Dr. Marx called Coroner W. F. Giesman, who viewed the body and ordered it removed to McCrum's undertaking rooms. A sealed letter addressed to the unfortunate man's wife was found in his pocket.

Charles E. Norton was born on August 25, 1862, in Quaker street, near Delanson and was the son of Charles E. and Emma J. Norton. His parents died when he was a small boy and he was reared by an uncle. On December 11, 1888, in Cobleskill, he was united in marriage to Alice Warner. They lived in Cobleskill until 18 years ago when they moved to this city, which has since been their home. Surviving him are the wife and one son, Fred E. Norton, of Gloversville.

Mr. Norton had been employed for the past 30 years as a car inspector for the D. & H. company, first at Cobleskill and later here, and was the oldest man in point of service engaged in that vocation in the local yards. He was a man well liked and much respected by his associates and by all who knew him and much sympathy will be extended to the bereaved widow and son. He was a member of the First Baptist church in Cobleskill and of the Maccabees and the B. R. C. of A. in this city.

The funeral arrangements had not been completed last evening and will be published in Saturday's issue of The Star.

In referring yesterday morning to those persons who were instrumental in making the new Elks' home such a place of beauty, omission was made inadvertently of the name of Orlo Epps, the architect, to whose creative genius and skill much credit is due. An interesting comment on the beauty of the lodge room, as well as a compliment to the architect, builders and decorators, is the statement of Ivan Gardner, of Middletown, district deputy grand exalted ruler, that he has visited Elks' lodges in 22 states, but has never been in a lodge room that in dignity of proportions and magnificence of decorations equals that of Oneonta lodge.

THE JUNE RAINFALL

Three Storm Cycles Aggregate Over Six Inches in Three Weeks.

Up to four o'clock yesterday afternoon the total rainfall at Oneonta during the first three weeks of the present month amounted to 6.31 inches. Though the month is less than three-fourths over, the rainfall to this time has been exceeded in only two entire months of June in the past twenty-eight years, the total rainfall in June, 1903, being 6.83 inches, while in June, 1917, it was 9.13 inches. The normal rainfall for June, as determined by taking the average for the entire period above named, is approximately 5.91 inches, or about two and a third inches less than has already fallen.

The rainfall during the present month had been grouped into three periods. The first was from the 2d to 5th inclusive, the second from the 10th to 12th, and the third from the 17th to the present time. These groups had approximately equal rainfall amounts, that of the first group being 2.47 inches, the second, 1.95 inches and the third 1.89 inches.

Since, despite the government predictions, yesterday's weather was neither fair nor warmer, there is every prospect that a considerable amount more will be added to the total for June, though everybody, particularly farmers, whose work in the fields has been much retarded, will be willing to cry "Hold! Enough!"

In June, 1917, to which reference is made above, there were only ten days without rain. Thus far the present month there have been the same number of rainless days.

Gin Club Smoker.

The Oneonta Fish, Game and Gun club will hold a smoker at the Windsor Hotel, Monday evening, June 26, at 8 o'clock. A very enjoyable time is assured. Arrangements for the prizes for the speaking contest will be completed and several other matters will be discussed. Come and bring your sportsmen friends. All are welcome.

Buys Chestnut Street Lots.

Charles E. Heald of 108 Chestnut street has purchased through S. B. Gardner from D. F. Keres and Mrs. Melissa A. Allen the vacant lots opposite. The size of the lots is 61 by 124 feet. Mr. Heald, who contemplates building on these lots in the near future, is very fortunate in securing this desirable property.

Nurses' Picnic Postponed.

The picnic of the Otsego County Nurses' association, which was to have been held this afternoon at Neahwa park, has been postponed until Saturday, when it will be held at 4 o'clock at the same place, weather permitting.

WHEN GREEK MEETS GREEK

Oneonta Giants and Scranton, Slugging Outfits Both, Will Try Conclusions at Neahwa Park This Afternoon.

Unless the fair weather prophecy of the official prognosticator is belied, the Oneonta Giants and Scranton will meet at Neahwa park at 4:15 this afternoon in the third battle of the season between the two teams. The two games played at Scranton were split fifty-fifty, and rivalry as to the rubber contest is keen.

Bridwell's pitchers have had a good rest and are eager for action, as are also the rest of the players. It is a matter of conjecture as to whether Snyder, Wiltse or Thomas will appear on the mound, although it is probable that one of the two latter will get the assignment. Hornum and Steffen are both in the city ready to jump into the fray, which assures a bit of heavy hitting.

Scranton has a bunch of sluggers and will try to bat the bacon from here to the Pennsylvania city. The Giants are also an aggregation of formidable stickmen and it looks like a case of when Greek meets Greek. The result should prove most interesting to the fans.

Miss Cecelia J. Ludwig is Bride of William Bauman of Paterson, N. J.

Many friends in this city will be pleased to learn of the marriage on Wednesday, June 21, at St. Boniface Roman Catholic church, Paterson, N. J., of Cecelia J. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ludwig, formerly of Oneonta and now of Paterson, to William Bauman of the latter city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Ingatius at 11 a. m.

The bride was for many years a resident of this city and very popular with the younger set. She has a wide circle of friends here who will join in extending congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Bauman.

The bride was prettily gowned in white georgette with veil of tulle and Chantilly lace and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her only bridesmaid, Miss Irene Smith, was attired in pink georgette and taffeta with picture hat to match. Hers was an arm bouquet of pink roses. Edward Sengrist was best man and the bride's little nephew and godson, Richard F. Peaselee of Oneonta, as ringbearer, led the bridal party to the altar.

Immediately after the ceremony and congratulations, the bridal party repaired to the home of the groom's mother, where a delicious wedding dinner was served to the members of the party and a few intimate friends. The young couple received many beautiful gifts, including cut glass, silver, linen and a complete mahogany living room and bedroom suite. Mr. and Mrs. Bauman left late in the afternoon for a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City, N. J.

PRETTY JUNE WEDDING

Miss Lela Jennie Wells, Stenographer in County Treasurer's Office, Becomes Bride of F. C. Munger of Castleton.

(Special to The Star.)

Cooperstown, June 22.—A pretty June wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells on Christian Hill, near Cooperstown, Tuesday, the 20th, at high noon, when their daughter, Lela Jennie, was united in marriage to Frederick C. Munger of Castleton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Kramer of Cooperstown in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few friends. The couple were attended by Miss Ellen M. Alpin, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Augustus A. Munger, brother of the groom, as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, a special feature being the wedding cake, the top of which was the bride's mother's cake forty years ago.

The bride's gown was white satin draped with chiffon, and she carried white roses. The bridesmaid wore Nile green silk with all-over lace and georgette and carried pink peonies. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of green and white which was the general color scheme throughout the house.

After the wedding dinner the bride and groom left to spend ten days with friends in New York, Newark, N. J., and North Providence, R. I. Upon their return they will make their home in Castleton-on-the-Hudson.

Many beautiful gifts were received including cut glass, silverware, linen, aluminum ware and pictures. Miss Florence Griffith of Albany sang, "O Promise Me." Mrs. G. A. Holbrook played Lohengrin's wedding march.

The groom is foreman in the piano factory at Castleton. The bride has been employed the past five years as stenographer in the county treasurer's office at Cooperstown.

Science Or Religion

Six Leaders of Thought Debate Which Shall Serve As Moral Guide

(Copyright, 1922, by NEA Service.)

Can right and wrong be determined by test tube and microscope?

Shall moral laws of the future be written from data compiled in the laboratory of the scientist instead of from ancient ethical traditions handed down in sacred books?

The suggestion that morals be taken from the field of religion and placed in the domain of science, advanced by Professor William Morris Davis, Phi Beta Kappa orator at the Harvard commencement, has stirred up nationwide discussion and has become a center of conflicting opinions.

Through NEA Service The Star today presents opinions of prominent scientists, clergymen and leaders of thought on Davis' suggestion. This is the passage in the professor's address which has aroused the discussion:

"Just as surely as all questions of a geological or astronomical or evolutionary nature have now been permanently taken over from religion by their respective sciences, so conquest will be made of all questions concerning right and wrong by that division of science which concerns itself with the natural history of goodness as a matter of purely human experience in contrast to goodness as a matter of supernatural revelation."

"Two great and growing, though still young, branches of modern science will contribute powerfully to this conquest; there are eugenics and psychiatry."

Every shade of opinion, favorable and adverse, is reflected in the statements of nationally and internationally known leaders of thought that have been gathered.

The Rev. John A. Ryan, professor of moral theology and industrial ethics, Catholic University of America, Washington, says:

"Professor Davis believes science will take possession of ethics and reduce it to a history of human goodness. The professor confounds 'is' with 'ought.' He forgets history can tell us only what men have done, not what they ought to do. History can provide no standard of right, no distinction between right and wrong. Eugenics and psychiatry may forecast certain effects; they cannot determine the moral quality of these effects. No physical science can disclose ethical standards or yield ethical judgments. The mental confusion betrayed by Professor Davis is a pathetic refutation of his thesis. It indicates that the physical scientist should let ethics alone; that the shoemaker should stick to his last."

Lothrop Stoddard, author of "The Rising Tide of Color" and "The Revolt Against Civilization."

"When Professor Davis proclaimed the application of science to ethics he uttered a message of good cheer for our troubled times. Science is our pole star. It is like our guide for the present and our hope for the future. What distinguishes our civilization from past civilizations is scientific knowledge and the scientific spirit. To us have been revealed secrets of life our forefathers never knew. And to us has been vouchsafed a passion for truth such as the world has never seen. This quenchless love of truth, this spirit of science which combines knowledge and faith in the synthesis of a higher wisdom, is our best promise for the cure of present ills and for the regeneration of the race."

Charles P. Steinmetz, inventor and scientist, consulting engineer of the General Electric company:

"I entirely agree with Professor Davis that all questions of right and wrong belong to the field of science, where they can be intelligently studied, and not to the emotional fancies of religion. So it was in the classical civilizations of Greece and Rome. But the Persians mixed morals and religion and the Jews copied them and thus the Christians. Every educated man, whose intelligence reaches beyond his immediate neighborhood in time and country, realizes that there are no absolute ethics, but morals are merely the product of the existing forms of society, varying with its changes, somewhat like the by-laws of a society."

Edward E. Slosson, scientist and writer on scientific topics:

Religion and science are Siamese twins. They do not cut apart. Science often furnished clear reasons for customs which religion has for centuries inculcated and which have aided individuals and nations to survive in the struggle for existence. The Old Testament is largely concerned with hygiene, eugenics and economics; primitive science, but the best of its time. Eugenics will remain a barren branch of science until it gets behind it a religious impulse sufficient to make men and women willing to sacrifice present and personal pleasures for distant and higher ideals. On the other hand ministers must realize that a church wedding is not a Christian marriage if contrary to eugenic principles. Science lights the way. Religion furnishes motive power."

Dr. Hendrik Willem VanLoon, historian and sociologist and author of "The Story of Mankind":

"Professor Davis is entirely right when he says questions of morals and goodness should be taken from religion and placed under the control of science. Religion has made a failure of the job. Let us see what science can do. Of course this would mean the end of organized religion. I realize that there are plenty of people who would like to keep religion as a sort of music in their lives. Perhaps it may remain as music but the time has come for its end as a director of human conduct."

Rev. Dr. Charles L. Shattery, D. D., Rector Grace Church (Episcopal), New York:

"Religion is inclusive. It believes that God is revealing Himself not only through humanity, most of all through Christ, but also through nature and through the observations of and discoveries by modern science. Religion in its boldest aspects attempts to be guided by the deepest experiences of the race. The reason the world never has been willing to get on without religion and never will be content to get on without it, is because mere knowledge of consequences such as science teaches is not enough to bring any man to the height of his potential character."

GIVEN A LESSON IN LAW

WILLIAM BENJAMIN'S SUDDEN CHANGE FROM TEACHER TO PUPIL

Attempt to Learn Town Supt. Conklin Something Ends in Benjamin Getting a Jail Sentence From Justice Murdoch.

"Don't move this tractor until you pay damage done to property. Call at 'Branham's' garage. William Benjamin."

The above notice was found scribbled on part of a breakfast food pasteboard box and left on the Linn tractor belonging to the town of Oneonta which had been left by Town Superintendent John Conklin on a vacant lot on Jefferson avenue the night previous. Mr. Conklin had been at work the day before and having some work yet remaining to be done had driven the tractor upon the lot to get it out of the highway and protect the public. The lot was covered with weeds and it was apparent that it would do no harm to place the tractor there for the night. Mr. Conklin was disturbed when he and the force reached the tractor and accordingly he went to Attorney D. J. Kilkenny for advice. "Proceed to use your tractor and let the party collect any damage he has sustained," was the advice of the county attorney, whose services are available for all town officers.

Mr. Conklin returned to the tractor, the men having been kept in waiting. When he attempted to start the tractor he met with no success and investigation finally disclosed that the magnet distributing pencil was missing. Mr. Conklin made a hurried trip to Morris and secured another pencil and proceeded to use the tractor during the remainder of the day.

In the meantime, Attorney Kilkenny paid a visit to the place where Benjamin is employed and inquired as to what damages he claimed.

"I'll learn them not to drive on my premises," and with an oath insisted that he be paid damages to the extent of $10 to $15. Mr. Kilkenny suggested that the sum was too large and excessive. During the discussion, in which Mr. Kilkenny assented to the proposition that if others had done things they should not do that they should be taught a lesson, Benjamin admitted that he had removed the distributor pencil from the car. Mr. Kilkenny finally admitted a willingness to pay $5 damages provided that Benjamin would sign a receipt therefor which embraced a positive declaration that the pencil in question was all that he removed from the tractor, and also return the pencil. The money was paid by Mr. Kilkenny and the suggested receipt given.

The sequel to the lesson administered to the town superintendent was another lesson in which Benjamin was the pupil and in which he was given some instruction in the law relative to town property. The school bell rang when an officer appeared to Benjamin yesterday morning with a summons from Justice Fred Murdoch requiring him to answer to the charge of petit larceny, made by Supt. Conklin.

Before the examination was concluded before the justice, Attorney Kilkenny drew from the reluctant Benjamin all that he had said to the attorney. The outcome was a plea of guilty to the charge and the sentence of the court was 30 days in the county jail, to which place Benjamin, quite surprised at the turn of his efforts to "learn them something," was taken. He will probably have sufficient time in which to have his part of the lesson thoroughly learned before the 30 days expire.

Attorney Kilkenny in speaking of the case later in the day yesterday declared that many residents of the town and in other towns as well have interfered seriously with the work of town superintendents, often replacing dirt removed and even filling in where a ditch has been opened. This condition has continued long enough and it will be our purpose to see that town officers who are doing their work properly and in accordance with the law are not interfered with by individuals who may think differently about the manner in which the work should be done. Offenders hereafter will be prosecuted, declared Mr. Kilkenny.

I. J. BOOKHOUT HONORED

LOCAL UNDERTAKER ELECTED MEMBER OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF STATE ASSOCIATION

Officers Re-elected at Closing Session Yesterday—Richfield Next Meeting Place — Delegates Enthusiastic in Praise of Oneonta.

I. J. Bookhout of this city was elected a member of the board of trustees of the New York State Undertakers' association at the closing session of the 43rd annual convention of the association held yesterday morning in the state armory. All the officers were re-elected with the exception of Trustees J. Bernard Brophy of Brooklyn and Arthur T. Palmer of Albany, who were succeeded by Mr. Bookhout and W. T. Cornell of Binghamton. The list of officers follows:

President—Harry T. Pyle, Brooklyn.

First Vice President — Frank W. Traugott, Syracuse.

Second Vice President — John F. Whelan, New York.

Third Vice President — Fred L. Dascher, Albany.

Secretary-Treasurer—George L. Gilham, New York.

Honorary President—George L. Gilham.

Trustees—Howard F. Smith, Buffalo; George W. Freeburn, New York; Robert A. McQueen, Central Islip; I. J. Bookhout, Oneonta; W. T. Cornell, Binghamton.

Sixteen delegates were elected to represent the state association at the convention of the National Funeral Directors' association to be held in Denver, Col., September 19-20-21. Delegates from this section were R. V. Tillapaugh of Schenectady and H. C. Brockway of Richfield Springs.

When the matter of a meeting place for next year was brought up Mr. Brockway assured the delegates that Richfield Springs would be glad to welcome the convention with the same spirit that Oneonta had shown. That statement sounded good to the undertakers, and so Richfield was selected as the 1923 convention place.

Yesterday morning's session was the closing one of the convention and by last evening most of the delegates had scattered to their homes in various parts of the state. It was the consensus of opinion that the association had been royally entertained and that no mistake had been made in choosing Oneonta as the convention city. As President Pyle expressed it: "You have a beautiful city and a live Chamber of Commerce. Our stay has been very pleasant here. We are glad we came and sorry to leave." Mr. Pyle, who is the father-in-law of Waite Hoyt, Yankee World Series hero, also added that Oneonta has a fine ball team and that Monday's game with Norwich was a wonderful exhibition.

Farmer Has Terrible Experience

"I don't think anybody ever suffered more pain than I have. Twice I was operated for gall stones and a third operation was advised. A friend in town wrote me how he was cured by taking May's Wonderful Remedy. I took a bottle on his advice with good results and have also taken the full course. My pains are all gone and I feel I am permanently cured." It removes the natural mucus from the latestest tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at druggists everywhere. Advt.

The Standard of Comparison

Why Buick Cushions "Ride Easy"

Buick cushions are comfortable on all roads because of their "double-deck" springs and resilient hair pads. The upper springs, which are light and easy-acting, yield to the slightest road irregularity. The lower springs are larger and stiffer. They come into play on rough country roads, carrying the passenger in comfort over bumps which cause the ordinary seat to "strike bottom".

Between the springs and the French-plaited leather upholstery are two thick, yielding pads of interlaced hair which positively prevent "lumping".

In Buick seat cushions, as in every other part of the car, is built the quality which has made Buick cars the standard of comparison.
